

We are not happy to have the class D airspace dissolved. We don't expect the faa to listen to us little people but will still try to have you understand. As you have heard two aircraft have had to use Meigs field for an emergency in the last few days. When I go to safety seminars put on by the faa they say to not fly over Lake Michigan but go down under the class b airspace and fly around the bottom of the lake. The airport(Meigs) was given as a possible safety
